PATRIOT

79

The 1978-79 school year was like any other. Classes, sports, parties, dances, A's, F's. It was all there. It had all been done before, but this was our year, our turn. We made it one Hale of a Year.

Volume 20, published by the Patriot Staff Hale High School, 6960 East 21 Street, Tulsa, Oklahoma 74129.

HALE BECOMES

The maple donated by Nathan Hale's family changes into its fall colors.

Jennifer Hefley arranges the new display case purchased by U.S.A. for the lobby.

On campus, Phillip O'Bar and Leisa Burgess get a breath of fresh air while studying.

Each and every day of the 180 days of the school year we were greeted by the buff brick building of Nathan Hale Senior High School. Whether through sweltering summer heat or slick, icy cold, Nathan Hale was always there. Until it was filled every morning with students, that's all it was, just a building. Any school is just a building until the people are added. For those 180 days, Nathan Hale was the home of the Rangers. Better than other schools. Even as we leave these walls behind, it is a memory and a part of us. The best thing any building could hope for.

A PART OF OUR MEMORIES

Dusk has fallen about the school, as students arrive for a night's activity.

Phillip Fields buffs the rough edges of a piece of metal he uses to practice welding.

Tommy Smith jumps rope to tighten up the muscles in his legs for running.

In the quiet of the library Joy Flaming and Chris Stehm do their homework.

With help from friends and their calculators, students attack their homework.

CLASSES COMBINE WORK AND FRIVOLITY

Classes were much more than just academics. Along with the books and tests and study sheets and notes and assignments and this and that, there was candy selling and eating, and note writing and hair combing. Many artists got their humble beginnings in classes where they entertained themselves with idle doodling. The comedians of tomorrow practiced in the classrooms. All were environments for two opposites: work and frivolity. For better or worse, the teacher and student bore through it, and it was all educational.

Using an overhead projector Mrs. Jackie Campbell teaches her students how to write an essay.

Patti Ridenour changes the clothing display.

Vicki Potts uses a palette knife in oil painting.

Teaching cheers to the special education students is Lisa Stephens.

Leslie Barnes makes a smooth dive into the cool water.

Janice Burba selects a putter in the LaFortune pro shop.

Preparing for a match are Chris Griggs and Randy Rable.

Scooter Smith rushes for a first down against the SPIRIT MAKES "WILD AND

There are ten high schools in Tulsa, but to 624 seniors, 572 juniors and 575 sophomores only one of them meant anything. To these 1,771 students Nathan Hale was the only school in town. We could count on a crowd at any football game, basketball game or swim meet. Skelly Stadium could always be filled with hot and cold running Rangers. With pep assemblies, the band, the cheerleaders, and of course the team themselves, every game was a "wild and crazy" event.

Spirit involved a lot more than just turning out at the games though. With Spirit Week we all got to come as our alter selves. Six-

Selling balloons for the senior class is a Friday night ritual for Liz Wright.

Beth Presson and Patti Richards show how the Rangers will defeat the Cardinals.

A group of hard working seniors makes preparations to sell their balloons to beloved Ranger fans.

"CRAZY" RANGERS

ies Day, saw a profusion of beatniks, hippies, and peace signs. Dress Up Day for the coronation saw Rangers decked out in their best, a suit and tie — the works! School spirit may be an overused term, but there's never too much Ranger Spirit.

Lucy Anderson loves submarine sandwiches

LUNCH PROVIDES THE PERFECT

Lunch. Perhaps that's not the proper word for that 35-minute break in the middle of the day. Sure, some of us used this time to grab a quick lunch, but not all of us. While some of us scrambled off to Taco Bueno for a hurried burrito, others took time out to do some "studying" in the library. We used this time for a myriad of things, talking in the lobby, getting caught up on homework — usually over due — perhaps milling about or maybe walking through the halls with your honey. Whatever we did on our lunch break, it was one of the best times of the day.

LIFELONG FRIENDS

Friends. No matter what the faculty or our parents said, that was the real reason we came to school. Friends. What could we do without them? Not much. But what could we do with them? Anything, just name it. Some one to bounce jokes off of or to talk to when we were down. A lunch buddy or a fellow English student. We started with the friends we had known for years, but by the end of the year we had more new friends than old ones, but the old ones were more important now that another year had been weathered.

When the three years are over, some friends will fade into their own lives, and some will become a stronger part of ours.

MEET AT HALE

Entertainment — the pursuit of happiness. Entertainment — the art of having a good time, especially with others. Some of us were the entertainers, and some of us were the entertainees, but all of us had a Haleatious time. Halebaloo, Hale Jam, Halloween Carnival, Sunday nights at Twentieth Century, movies, skating parties, picnics and anything else imaginable. Rangers were Hale bent for leather when it came to having a good time.

RANGERS WEAR THEIR FEELINGS

T-shirts, t-shirts, t-shirts. Every kind from Mickey Mouse to ZZ Top. We put anything on a t-shirt. The name of our favorite rock group, our favorite movies, our favorite cities. T-shirts were more than a fad. They were a world unto themselves. They announced that we were from Hale, that we belonged. A form of self-expression. And like jeans, they were here to stay.

Entertainment was never a problem at Hale because something was always going down. With disco dancing being in, many put two feet forward and tried their luck at 20th Century. Expressive Rangers showed their talents from the stage in school plays or in Halebafoo. Being with friends was surely the best part of high school. But some enjoyed a hour of practice alone to become an expert at one thing

The activities were continuous while the dull moments remained scarce. The new water slides, the Ridge Rider Skate Board Park, the pool halls, 20th Century, road rallies, the all-school picnic, and frisbee filled all Rangers with enthusiasm. They paced themselves with the homework football games, dances, and parties, and somehow always came out ahead. They showed the non-believers, and raised the spirit of the loyal. Rangers really did it!

We began our meetings with the annual Burger Bash. Pillow fights, goose picnics, and a gutter-rail sundae all contributed to the friendship we felt. Bible studies were held every morning at 6:30 for those early risers who were interested. The Monday night meetings at 7:17 became a highlight for us.

Out of the nation's 30 top cheerleading squads, Rangers ranked fourth! The girls and their sponsor, Rita Miller, left the Tulsa International Airport with smiles and high spirits, ready to give it "Hale." With 12 of Tulsa's best, and Zork, the cheerleaders' mascot, they boarded the plane and headed for Los Angeles. Meeting with Larry Hagman, the Incredible Hulk, and Jaws, only added thrills to the already excited Rangers. The styles of other squads across the nation differed from Hale's, but the originality worked for them, not against them. Everyone did her best, and the Hale Rangers came through again!

Hale students enjoyed a wide variety of entertainment this year. From movies to football games to ice skating; every Ranger found something that he liked best. Eating proved to be a favorite pastime for many students, as it was for John Bellushi in the hilariously popular "Animal House." Dancing was termed "No. 1" by many others, as Rangers filled 20th Century on Monday nights. The year had something for every Ranger.

Record breaking snowfall in January made getting to school difficult or not necessary as school was closed on several days. Struggles getting to school were rewarded with snowball fights in the parking lot and smaller classes. Snowmen dotted the campus and snowballs zoomed through the doors as the excitement of the "blizzards of '79" took over the Rangers. Dented fenders, frozen toes and cars stuck in the parking lot did little to dampen the enthusiasm

Spirit for the last few years has been great, but this year spirit was really high! Crowds cheered at the football games, sign painting attracted the loyal every week, and several organizations grew. Rangers showed up for picnics, dances, and skating parties. Spirit is what makes a school fun. It made 1978-79 "one Hale of a year"!

BOARD SETS DISTRICT POLICIES

The School Board met in regular bi-monthly meetings to make policy decisions for 56 000 students in 70 elementary, 20 junior high, and 10 senior high schools. Board members were elected residents of the Tulsa district. They considered the views of the community and the system's experts when setting policy. It was then the job of Dr. Zenke to see that the Board's policy was adopted by the system.

The responsibilities of assistant principal are divided into three areas: curriculum, student activities and discipline. Mr. Chowins' goal was to make the curriculum more academically oriented. Mr. Billings was to promote more spirit in school activities. Mr. Byrd, as dean, hoped to maintain an atmosphere so that students who wanted to learn could learn.

MANY LANGUAGES ARE SPOKEN AT HALE

Hale offered classes in four foreign languages. Conjugations and declensions were made more bearable by language club activities. The clubs held parties sampled foreign foods, and visited the motherlands. The study of the language became the study of the people

FUTURE SCIENTISTS

The math department had two goals — to help every student master the basics of math and to prepare Hale's future computer scientists, physicists, engineers, and math teachers for their future math courses. The department offered courses ranging from Basic Math to Calculus to fulfill this goal.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT SINGS A DIFFERENT SONG

The arrival of three new music teachers caused quite a change in the department. Mr. Lundy got new uniforms for HMH. Under Mr. Moguin's direction the jazz band was greatly improved. They played between acts in the play and helped Concert Choir with added instruments. Ms. Johnson changed the style of the choir in both the music and the dress.

CREATIVE RANGERS MASTER SELF-EXPRESSION

Thanks to the art department our cafeteria was brightened by the colorful macrame and wall hangings. The main office and lounges had a new look too, there were hanging plants and other art work

Speech students produced three plays, several assemblies, and held a state qualifying competitive speech tournament. The debate squad traveled around the state competing and winning — qualifying for state competition. The drama class provided students with a chance to improve self-expression and stage presence, while stagecraft provided technical backup

STUDENTS LEARNED TRADES AND SKILLS

The five areas studied in I.E. classes were drafting, electronics, woods, metals and distributive education. They taught students skills and trades. The practical experience of working with their hands

LAB WORK HELPS STUDENTS

Science classes were a unique combination of the academic with the laboratory. Most sophomores began with biology, combining lectures, study questions and dissecting labs. The trend followed through chemistry where memorizing valence charts was rewarded with lab days. Other courses followed suit. The practical experience combined with theory prepared students for further studies and life.

Hale has a large Special Education department which includes many physically handicapped students. Federal law and funds have enlarged the school's responsibility in this area. Small classes with individual instruction helped students with special problems.

Field trips including bowling trips helped break the monotony of classroom work. Orthopedics classes visited the Center for the Physically Limited.

Ranger spirit was strongest when the classes competed. Through the battlecry at pep assemblies and football games, voices were heard from the student body competing to see who was number one. Seniors proved themselves in spirit by doubling the juniors efforts in the spirit chain. Each class, led by its board, worked to earn money for its prom. Sales, contests, booths at carnivals, plays, skating parties and dances helped fill the kitties so that each class could celebrate its graduation.

Saturday

It was their last go at it, and the Senior Board pulled through with flying colors. Their numerous activities throughout the year left them with one of the largest treasuries of recent classes at Hale. Some of these successful endeavors were the road rally, shirt sales, and the extremely profitable sale of helium balloons at football games.

In addition were the traditional sponsoring of the prom, vespers, and graduation.

Seniors were faced with the task of making post-graduation plans. Throughout the year, assistance was given in making these decisions. Representatives from various colleges came to those interested, and the school counselors lent a helping hand.

PROM MARKS PERFECT ENDING

The girls were enchanting in their evening gowns and the boys had undergone a change → from bluejean clad auto-mechanics to gentlemen in tuxedos. What else could be expected at the Senior Prom? The Class of '79's final dance had it all pre-prom dinners, dancing, late suppers and finally, morning good-byes.

Our days are challenging, just as past classes were, to strive for a glorious future. God will reveal what life will be like in the meantime. However, we must live the todays that add up to the tomorrow. If the future is what we want it to be, at least we'll have lived the journey.

They say "You've got to go for it to get it done," and journalism students were quick to believe. Deadlines seemed to come up just as nine out of ten typewriters in the room broke down, and ten students dashed for the chair. 11 students found there was more to the word of journalism than crazy people running around selling papers.

And in the end, along with all the fun and laughs, they found they really had learned something, so on they trudged to the next deadline and started again.

A popular gathering spot, the lobby was the setting for highly important telephone conversations, much girl (and guy!) watching and the consuming of a lot of soft-drinks and popcorn. Before school and during lunch the lobby was often filled with chattering students.

Labor is rarely cheap in these days of inflation, but thanks to students who violated school regulations, it was sometimes free at Nathan Hale. Throughout the year, students discovered that there was a price to pay for cutting Algebra or for that cigarette (which is not commonly known) which entailed assisting the custodians in their after school duties.

SOPHOMORE BOARD CREATES

The Sophomore Board worked hard to make their first year a profitable one. They held many dances, a car wash, and skating parties. Other fund-raising projects included the sale of candy canes, lollipops, play tickets and carnations on Valentine's Day. Although they began with nothing, the sophomores ended their year with something they could be proud of.

Through rain, snow or shine, the bus riding sophomores trudged loyally to their much appreciated school bus. Riding wasn't really as bad as was anticipated. They had a lot of good times breaking the rules, and of course being late for first hour and being excused made it all worthwhile.

Blame it on too many Mexican lunches, but toward the end of the year many sophomores felt like they should be riding burros and wearing sombreros. Their predicament was due to the absence of drivers' licenses and/or cars, without which they could not drive to lunch. This considerably narrowed their eating choices. Brave the cafeteria or have their noon meal at Taco Bueno, the only fast food establishment within walking distance.

THEIR TRANSPORTATION

Whether a candy-apple Trans-Am or a sleek black Seville, there is nothing a newly licensed driver would like more than to operate his fantasy car. Winter is a magical season. Its many personalities enjoyed by people of all ages. But frolicking in the newly fallen snow can have embarrassing consequences for sophomores who cannot resist its clean, white crustiness on the way to school. As in any group some Rangers earned the respect of the group. Some were spotlighted for their academic achievements, and some for their talents. Some were always willing to help, always friendly. Some were leaders and some cheered them on. They were chosen to represent us. We took pride in them, as they did in Hale.

Barbie and Turner escorts Barbie at the half-time ceremony

On the 27th day of November, I accepted the honor of being chosen Miss Nathan Hale. This was the highlight of my three years at Hale, and I was proud to represent our school as the queen. "I am a faithful subject of Nathan Hale High school and I will uphold and maintain the traditions of our realm." This was part of the oath I took on coronation day. I realized how important the title was. I tried to maintain those vows to the best of my ability.

Sincerely,

Barbie Beshara

Ted Turner and Suzan Davis

The excitement of being elected as attendant or escort was heightened by the homecoming activities. The stage was lit up for the coronation ceremony. As the participants walked down the aisles toward the stage, they felt special among their peers. The gowns, the tuxes, the traditional lines spoken on this day made lasting memories. The recession was more relaxed — it had gone smoothly. By the time for the ceremony at halftime of the football game arrived, the practiced participants were sorry to see the homecoming activities end.

SEASONS CHANGE AND

Barbie Beshara and Kurt Minnich started the year as September Seniors of the Month. Barbie was awarded Miss Nathan Hale XX. She was yearbook editor, member of NHS, Demoiselles, and Senior Board. Kurt held the office of senior class vice-president, and was active in USA and in sports.

October brought many changes in weather and in honors. The October Seniors were Bill Benz and Teresa Marsh. Teresa was in USA and held an office in Spirit Club. Bill was also in USA and a member of NHS and participated in sports activities at Hale.

Suzan Davis and Daryl Wiesman held the honor of November's Seniors of the Month. Suzan was president of Spirit Club, and a member of NHS. Daryl was chosen for all-city, all-conference, and all-state teams in football. He also ran track.

Bobby Straight and Janice Franks

New snow fall arrived with new Seniors of the Month, Janice Franks and Bobby Straight. Janice was a member of NHS Spirit Club, and Young Life. She was co-head cheerleader and attendant for Miss Nathan Hale. Bobby played on the Ranger Basketball Team, and played Baseball. He was a member of F.C.A. and escorted a Queen attendant.

As spring budded, so did two more Seniors of the Month, Jennifer Hefley and Doug Zachary. Jennifer was a member of Senior Board, Spanish Club, Los Academicos, Demoiselles, Young Life, yearbook staff, and vice president of NHS. Doug was a member of NHS, Young Life, Key Club, Young Tulsans and participated in Halebaloo. He played the trombone for the Jazz Band and HMH. He lettered in varsity basketball and escorted a Band Queen attendant.

Phil Haney and Cheryl Bilveu

Along with April Showers, came Cheryl Bilveu and Phil Haney as seniors of the month. Cheryl is captain of the swim team, member of Young Life, USA and Senior Board. Phil played left field on Hale's baseball team, was elected King Cupid and escort to a Miss Nathan Hale attendant.

May brought an end to the school year and to Seniors of the Month. Elected were Janice Wallace and Jeff Hamlet. Janice was a member of Senior Board, USA, Young Life and was Vice-President of Concert Choir. She managed McDonald's. Jeff was a member of Jazz Band, HMH diving team and soccer team. He escorted a band Queen attendant.

Rangers in Review has long been one of Hale's outstanding honors that symbolizes total school involvement. A group of eleven seniors was selected to receive this honor because of their outstanding contribution in academics, school service, sports, and spirit.

The Rangers in Review spent lots of extra hours keeping busy with the extra-curricular activities as well as the academics. These eleven seniors performed many jobs for the school and their friends that were not always accompanied by glory and recognition. The Rangers in Review set the example of what a Ranger really is. They spent many hours making this One Hale of a Year for themselves and the student body.

RANGERS GET RAVE REVIEWS

Mr. Gross was an honor awarded to Hale's favorite senior guy who during his stay at Hale displayed unmistakable qualities of the grossest person around. For some this award is worked for, but for Chris Griggs it just came naturally. Chris planned to attend Tulsa University this fall, where college may be as rewarding to him as high school. The runners-up were Brad Saunders, Charles McKinnon, Fred Stephens, and Paul Glavas.

Athletes in each sport knew that the team effort is made up of the individual efforts. They were after the satisfaction of success — the glory of winning for Hale. Some found just that, and others learned from defeat. Ranger fans — parents, teachers, coaches and students — cheered them on, shared in the victories, and excused the defeats. RANGERS TAKE WEBSTER IN ALL-CITY

Hale vs. McLain 0-13

In their first game of the All-City Preview, Rangers took on the third state-ranked McLain Scots. The Scots proved tough in their opening two series scoring twice on the surprised Ranger defense. The defense then went to work holding the quick Scot offense to ten yards in the second period.

The Ranger offense, lead by senior quarterback Scooter Smith, couldn't seem to click as they were held to very little yardage throughout the game.

Hale vs. Webster 14-0

It was Rangers all the way in their second clash of the All-City Preview with the Webster Warriors. A strong Ranger defense held the Warrior offense to an almost yardless first quarter. The Ranger offense then took hold and marched over the Warriors to set up a 15-yard run by junior fullback Bobby Biskup and the first Ranger touchdown of the year.

The second Ranger score came late in the second period when senior quarterback Scooter Smith connected with senior flanker Brad Saunders in the end zone.

PLAYOFFS

Hale vs. East Central 0-16

Rangers opened the season with a disappointing loss to the East Central Cardinals 0-16. The game recreated harsh emotions as the players battled in one of the hardest hitting games of the year. The Cardinals scored on the opening play from scrimmage and led at half by seven.

In the second half Rangers hoped to

The Rangers are scrumming for a drive in the first eliminate the mistakes that overtook them in the first. But this was not their game as the Cardinals drove again in the fourth quarter to the Ranger 20 and booted in three. Then with just minutes to go the Cardinals intercepted and drove in another 6 but failed the two point conversion.

Hale vs. McLain 3-0

For the second time of the year the Rangers were matched with McLain Scots. This time this was to be no repeat of the first as the Rangers took the victory, 3-0. A very defensively fought game left both teams with little yardage in the first half.

In the second half the Rangers offense began to rack up some yards, but despite their efforts were unable to get within scoring distance. The Scots then took over but soon fumbled on their own 22-yard line. Unable to make the first down the Rangers called on kicker Kelly Deal to give them 3 points that would win the game. The outcome was positive and the Rangers went on to win the game, 3-0.

RANGERS ARE ON

Hale vs. Memorial

0-10

The Rangers suffered a disappointing loss, as they were defeated by the Memorial Chargers, 0-10. The Ranger defense stopped the Charger offense in the opening series on the ground. However, deep in their own territory the Chargers were quick to flip a pass right through a Ranger defender's hands to their wide receiver who was all alone for the score.

The second half seemed a lot like the first, as neither team did very much. The second Charger score came midway through the second half as they brought themselves within distance of a well kicked fieldgoal. The Rangers were left on the wrong side of a 0-10 loss.

Hale vs. Edison 7-0

Rangers got off to a good start in district and conference competition as they passed up the Edison Eagles, 7-0. An early tumble recovery left the Rangers in good field position. Minutes later senior fullback Foster Mullen scrambled in for the six. With a kick from senior Kelly Deal the Rangers led by seven at the half.

The second half started and remained without much action as the Rangers took the district and conference victory from the Eagles, 7-0.

Hale vs. Central 23-0

The Rangers picked up another victory as they shut out the Central Braves, 23-0. Senior kicker Kelly Deal put the Rangers on the scoreboard in the opening minutes as he booted a 20-yard field goal. The only other first half score came as senior fullback Dee Parsons pushed his way over the Central goal line for six. Deal added the extra point.

Quarterback Scooter Smith added six as Parsons grabbed his second six during the third quarter. The Rangers went on to take the 23-0 shut out victory from the Braves.

Hale vs. Washington 7-23

The Rangers gave up their tie in the District 4A-8 race as they were defeated by the Washington Hornets 23-7. After a scoreless first quarter the Hornet offense got rolling as they moved 80 yards to set up their first score. Then with just seconds left in the first half the Hornet kicker boomed a 35-yard field goal to make it 9-0 at the halt.

The Hornet offense struck again early in the fourth quarter to make it 16-0. The Ranger offense finally set up a first and last score, to close the gap to 16-7. But the Hornets managed another touchdown and left the Rangers trailing for the final 23-7.

Hale vs. Ponca City 14-13

Rangers nabbed a satisfying victory as they caught the tough Ponca City Wildcats for a 14-13 Indian Nations conference victory. The Rangers first touchdown came from senior fullback Dee Parsons as Deal tacked on the extra point. The second and last touchdown for the Rangers came in the second quarter as junior quarterback Woody Stalnaker went in for the run. The Wildcats were left behind at the halt 14-0.

The second half was slow for the Ranger offense. The defense held on as Ponca missed the tie breaking point that gave the 14-13 victory to the Rangers.

Senior tailback Foster Mullen runs to daylight against Ponca City.

Hale vs. Rogers 14-21

The Rangers were thrown into a three way tie for second place in the District 4A-8 race as they were upset by Rogers 21-14. Rogers jumped to a 13-0 lead in the first half.

The second half was a complete turn around as the Rangers took a 14-13 lead.

But the Rogers set the final score on an 17-yard pass with a two point conversion to take the contest, 21-14.

Hale vs. Enid 0-7

The Rangers ended the regular season with a defeat to the Enid Plainsmen, 7-0. The Indian Nations Conference defeat left the Rangers with a 4-5 record.

Mistakes and costly penalties kept either team from doing much offensively. Late in the final period the Plainsmen made their mark. The score came on an 8-yard quarterback keeper to give the Plainsmen the hard fought victory.

Hale vs. Sapulpa 9-13

In the first round of the 78-79 State Playoffs, the Rangers ended their year losing to the Sapulpa Chieftains, 9-13. Both teams played well and hoped for advancement.

The second half showed the Rangers eager to take the lead by six points. As the game got down to the last minute, a touchdown pass by the Chieftains won the showdown with a score of 13-9.

A team of three girls and six boys faced a disappointing season running cross country, but senior Chris Kickam and sophomore Jack Booker had a good year winning some medals in the meets.

Coach Larry Aduddell felt that his biggest problem was the small number of people competing on the team. However Hale made a showing at the seven invitationals and five duals of the season.

The Ranger B-ballers started off the 1978-79 season, promising to be an exciting and high-scoring basketball team. Led by head coach Robert Sprague, the experienced Ranger team returned to the court with three of last year's starters.

The Rangers proved themselves tough as they opened with an easy 71-52 victory over rival East Central.

YOUNG TEAM LOOKS FOR "BETTER NEXT YEAR"

The 1978-79 season was a season of spectacular wins and close loses for the Lady Rangers. With only three returning seniors, the season was sure to be a challenge. The difficulties of coaching an inexperienced team showed up early in the season. New assistant coach Rory Marshall was also lacking in experience, this being his first year to coach girls' high school basketball. The Rangers ended their season without placing in the conference, so they looked to next year for a more successful season.

Hale's varied organizations seemed to offer something of interest for every Ranger and yet many did not participate in any of them. Those who joined found plenty to do. Foreign language clubs offered trips to foreign lands, exotic dining, parties and festivals. The math clubs matched mates in computer dating, while the speech and music departments entertained the student body in assemblies, plays, and concerts. HMM, Spirit Club and the cheerleaders lead the Ranger spirit. The Lone Ranger and Patriot staffs recorded the year for posterity. All-school activities were handled by USA, the student government.

HALE ACTIVE

The USA has always been relied upon to keep the school spirit up and make school fun for Hale Rangers. Ted Turner, Lori Brown, and David Dundore, with the advice of their sponsor Mr. Larry Hoar, worked together to provide activities for the students and to assist the student body in any way possible. The representatives, alternates, and members at large played a large part in this organization, also. They were always willing to support the activities of the United Student Assembly whether the activities were "wild and crazy", zany, academically oriented, or just plain "fun." Ted, Lori, and David set high goals for themselves, hoping to graduate and avoid impeachment, but they also set high goals for the USA by trying to keep everyone involved in the school through various activities. Some of these activities were the Christmas Dance, the all school picnic, the Howdy Dance, Capitan's Cabin Night, and ice skating parties. The USA also contemplated feeding a child in some third, fourth, or fifth world country. There were many minor disputes among officers, and representatives, but somehow they all seemed to work themselves out. The members of the United Student Assembly worked together for Hale to make the year a memorable one for all

The primary purpose for VICA was to provide skills for students who were not college-bound through on-the-job training. All the members of VICA were enrolled in Hale's ICE program. VICA members raised money for a Christmas party at Alice Ann's Day Care Center by selling candy and entering a booth in the Halloween Carnival. They sponsored a canned food drive for Neighbor for Neighbor. These activities highlighted the year. HOW COULD $2+2=5$?

One or all of the twelve Mu Alpha Theta members could probably answer that question.

Under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Clemmons and the president, Steve Jarvis, Mu Alpha Theta tried to promote students' interests in mathematics through educational and fun activities.

To be a member of Mu Alpha Theta, one had to have a 3.5 grade point average in math and be enrolled in Intermediate Algebra or a higher math course.

Mu Alpha Theta's major goal was to raise funds for college scholarships. They did this by presenting silent movies at the Halloween Carnival.

AL AND TRS — 80 ARE KEPT BUSY

The club sponsor, Mrs. Sallie Crawford and the president, Robert Harris, along with the other officers and members of the organization tried to promote a better understanding of computer programing and improve computer facilities.

The Computer Math Club had many activities such as computer dating, handwriting analysis and biorhythms in the Halloween Carnival, selling wrapping paper at Christmas, and computer-drawn picture calendars. The only requirement for joining the club was to be interested in computers and pay the dues.

The twenty-five members of Computer Math Club worked toward fulfilling their goal of purchasing a screen printer for one of the computers.

Room 102 was the place to be for chess enthusiasts at Hale. Our growing chess club, under the direction of Mr. Steve Griffiths, sponsored a successful intramural chess tournament. The 15 members got together every Tuesday after school to play, and encouraged other Hale students with an interest in chess to join in the fun. Anyone could join, and dues were only $1.00, which went in to help pay for chess sets and boards.

The Mixed Chorus and Concert Choir underwent many new changes this past year. New outfits, and a different sound in music, but the main one was a new director, Mrs. Rhonda Johnson. Along with the president, Quinton Roberts, and the other officers, they helped to make the musical entertainment at Hale fun and enjoyable. One could become a member of Mixed Chorus by auditioning in the Spring. Their goals for this year were to attain perfect musical knowledge and enrich their repertoire. Some of the activities that the Mixed Chorus participated in were the Fall Concert, and various assemblies throughout the year. The twenty-seven members of Mixed Chorus worked hard this year trying to raise money. They sold over $1300.00 in candles, and they also sold oranges and grapefruit.

Musicians of the Jazz Band entertain the Hale Rangers at an assembly.

Among the musical organizations Hale's Jazz Band has worked hard on many projects and programs. Throughout the year, the band performed at many junior highs and in April participated in the state jazz contest in Edmond. It was the first time Hale has attended in four years.

To be able to play in the Jazz Band each member tried out by sight-reading a piece of music they had not seen before. Now under the direction of Mr. Hugh Moguin, who once was a member of the Glen Miller Band, Hale's Jazz Band has a good future ahead of them.

FOLLOW THE LEADER

After the football games came to an end, the HMH was just too many people for Mr. Harley Lundy to handle, so they divided into two bands, one first hour and the other third hour. This gave the members of HMH a chance to develop their own skills on their respective instruments. They held a concert in February in which the coronation of Miss Nahaban was the main highlight. They participated in 4A district contest in March and returned home with high honors.

LOS ACADEMICOS MEMBERS INCREASE KNOWLEDGE

The orchestra turned over a new leaf in September with a new director, Mr. Harley Lundy, new outfits, and an updated sound. They played the traditional "pomp and circumstance" in the coronation assembly and performed in the fall and spring concerts.

Los Academicos is a branch of the Spanish Club which focused mainly on acquiring a greater depth in the more academic aspects of Spanish language study. Anyone who wanted to improve in Spanish could be in Los Academicos. The 47 members worked on building their vocabulary, and strived toward presenting a program in Spanish on Cable Television. A few of the members entered the Declamation Contest at Tulsa University Forrester Boulevard, the president of Los Academicos, and the sponsor, Mr. O.A. Smith did their best to see that the academics of Spanish were both fun and worth while.

Spanish dancers perform for the Spanish Club at a Tuesday morning meeting.

The Spanish Club was very active trying to motivate members of the club to be responsive to the language and culture and to create interest with activities relating to Spanish. Any one who was enrolled in Spanish, or had taken Spanish before could be in the club. The 30 members of the club, under the direction of Mrs. Lillie Townsend and Susan Lucas, strived to attain their goals which were to award two summer scholarships to Mexico for study in Spanish, and to promote the importance of foreign language. The Spanish Club's activity agenda was full from September to May. Among these activities was their Christmas Fiesta at ORU. Some members also attended a Spanish worship service at Immanuel Baptist church in November. The Spanish Club celebrated many birthday fiestas honoring the birthdays with pinatas and other various games. Candy sales were big this year in the Spanish Club. Many members of the club were walking the halls of Hale with Spanish Club t-shirts on showing their support and interest in Spanish.

Contrary to popular belief, the Latin Club and its 38 members don't spend their time talking in the ancient language. With a sponsor like Mrs. Wilma Bird, and their bubbly president Liz Wright, to keep them on their toes—aided by money from their various fund raising activities, the club had their annual Saturnalia, and a toga party in December, and a Roman festival in the Spring. The club was open to students enrolled in Latin and tried to promote interest in the classical language and the culture of ancient Rome and Greece, not only among students, but the whole school.

he common phrase, "That's life" is too common for Hale's French Club. Every Thursday morning in room 307 the 30 members of French club met to share cultural speakers, films, and slides. The Christmas Progressive Dinner was just one of the many activities of the French Club. Anyone could join the organization by having an interest in French, paying dues, and attending the meetings. Under the leadership of Patty Wallace and the sponsor, Mrs. Joyce Slagle, they did their best to fulfill their goals which were to cook in the French mode, to travel to France this summer, and to learn the language "like a native."

The German Club, sponsored by Miss Linda Bilderback, was originally formed to enrich students' studies in German and form an interest in German. The officers of the organization this year were Diana Cox and Bobbi Brandt. The main purpose of the German Club was to form a common meeting ground for those interested in German. Anyone could join the German Club by enrolling in German. The nineteen members of the organization had a Christmas party to top off the activities for the year.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes was a small group, but it served its purpose of helping Ranger athletes and any interested people to further their understanding of religion. FCA was not just for athletes, anyone who had an interest in the club was welcome. Under the leadership of David Nolen, Mr. Bruce Humphrey, and Coach

Robert Sprague, the Fellowship of Christian Athletes had guest speakers such as Steve Davis and Rod Goodsell, various local ORU and TU athletes also came to speak at the Monday night meetings. One of their main activities for the year was the annual Watermelon Feast in the fall

RANGER BATTLECRY IS VICTORY!

Victory was the battle cry for the Varsity cheerleaders this year. Our 12 Varsity cheerleaders went to Southern Methodist University and competed against 200 other squads. They brought back five superior ribbons, the spirit stick, and they were nominated for the Award of Excellence.

The cheerleaders were victorious again at Oklahoma University winning the superior ribbon, and a first place trophy.

To raise and lead school spirit was the main purpose of the organization. School spirit was high this year at the Pep Assemblies, the football and basketball games, and the wrestling matches. They also sold spirit ribbons to keep the Ranger spirit up. The cheerleader's major goal was to gain respect from the student body and faculty, and to try to change the image of the cheerleader.

Hale Ranger Spirit of '79 was headed up by Mrs. Rita Miller and Suzan Davis. They did their best to promote and keep school spirit at Hale. One-hundred-and-forty members belonged to the Spirit organization, and they worked hard to support the Ranger athletes and cheerleaders. Anyone could join by filling out an application at the beginning of the year. Their major goal for this year was to make Hale the most spirited school in the state. Among the many activities they sponsored, they also helped to send the cheerleaders to California and they made Christmas a little bit merrier at a nursing home. Among their various fund raising projects were selling programs at all the athletic events and sponsoring dances, skating parties, bus trips, and car washes.

The Key Club was a boys' service organization that tried to provide community service. Harold Scott, the president, and the ten other members were severely limited in activities which they did because they were without a sponsor throughout the year. They met in room 127 on Friday mornings to discuss their major events for the year. Among these were the Battle of the Bands, the St. Patrick's Day dance at 20th Century, and a rained-out bonfire before Homecoming. Their major goal for this year was to raise enough money to go to the annual Texas-Oklahoma District Key Club Convention in Dallas, Texas

Demoiselles was the girls' service organization at Hale. They were one of the most active organizations this year, and played a big part in keeping school spirit up. They were the "behind the scenes" workers:

ushering the school plays, working the concession stands, and taking tickets at the gate for the basketball games. They did a lot for Hale, and still found time to serve the community, also

One of the biggest organizations that contributes to the success of Hale is Demoiselles. Demoiselles are picked by application and interview and must have a 3.0 grade point average. They're an all girl group; and even the boys have to admit that they're a great bunch, and a credit to Hale. With sponsor Lillie Townsend and President Tammy Norton to lead, they render such services as ushering at most school events, selling concessions at Jr. Varsity games, and performing multiple services for the community. They presented the traditional necklace and roses to Barbie Beshara, Miss Nahan Hale XX, and with candy sales they raised money for their annual service project

With news, sports and a little bit of humor, the Lone Ranger reported what was going down on the Hale campus. With concert reviews, feature stories, club reports and general frivolity, the Lone Ranger helped keep the student

Everyone on the yearbook staff is convinced that it has been One Hale of a Year. In September, we created a theme, and plunged into putting together a yearbook. The yearbook staff were procrastinators and always ended up staying late, and tempers were short. We finished the yearbook in February, and March, April, and May were spent patching up differences, making friends again, and waiting for results.

RANGERS REMEMBER

ONE HALE OF A YEAR

Through the eyes of the Hale Rangers a flashback on "One Hale of a Year" brought many emotions to the surface. Everyone did their best to make this year stand out among others. Snow was a very common sight, bringing about unexpected vacation time, along with the frustration of getting to and from school. The school year seemed to go slowly, but the dances, assemblies, the Halloween Carnival, Young Life, and spirit of being a Hale Ranger made the year a memorable one for all.

MEMORIES

It was just yesterday that we talked about the starting of school, the rowdy pep assemblies, the humanities and chemistry test, the dances, and the football games. Our friends were always there to pull us through, to step in when the whole world went out. Our friends were a reflection of ourselves in a swirl of feelings. Although we may never pass this way again, our friends of yesterday and today will be the memories of tomorrow.

Fans cheer the Rangers on to victory

SENIOR RANGERS SAY

As the end of school grew near, sophomores turned 16 and fewer bikes were ridden.

Lenny Delacruz tries his cap and gown on to see if it fits.

Every today was once a tomorrow. Memories of yesterday linger as overwhelming football games, ignored semester finals and forgotten telephone numbers of the favorite date on Saturday night. Happy faces, shining smiles and laughing eyes turned our bitter enemies into everlasting friends, and our discouraging frowns into encouraging smiles.

GOOD-BYE TO HALE

We had joy; we had fun.
We had seasons in the sun.
But the wine and the songs,
Like the seasons, have all gone.
